Start at 11 o'clock sharp, was a full hour late.

The huge parade, made up of four divisions and including 40 bands, started promptly at 9:45 at Beacon and Essex sts., with Mayor Alfred F. Woods as chief marshal.

Several score members of the G. A. R. rode in cars with the division.

Other sections receiving more than their share of tribute were the Yankee Division members.

GRAND JUSTICE JOHNSON

CELEBRATES 11th ANNIVERSARY OF HIS DEATH

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—With pride in America's achievements in the cause of world peace and paying tribute to the World War hero, the Government's official, headed by President Hoover, joined with the rest of the nation today in observing the 11th anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

Opening the commemoration was the recital of burial services over the plain marble slab in Arlington cemetery under which lies America's unknown soldier, and then as the most notable exercise of the afternoon a memorial service at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, the wartime President, in the National Cathedral.

President Hoover paid the tribute to the nation at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier by laying a wreath of white chrysanthemums upon this hallowed place.

The President was accompanied to the cemetery by Mrs. Hoover and the Secretary of War. After the President had placed his wreath on the tomb, he turned toward the crowd and laid four smaller wreaths on the graves of the Unknown Soldier, the Unknown Sailor, the Unknown Marine, and the Unknown Soldier.

The ceremony was brief, simple and strictly in accordance with the Government's policy of maintaining the anonymity of the Unknown Soldier.

The 11th anniversary of the armistice was observed in many ways throughout the country. In many communities, military bands played, and in some, military parades were held.

2 Grizzled Vets of '61 Allen's Guests to See Parade

At the head of the Armistice Day parade approached the State House, Governor Alfons Abbe, flanked by two aged G. A. R. veterans standing on the sidewalk.

"Go to them and ask them if they would like to come up here," the governor told an aide.

The aide delivered the invitation, which was promptly accepted. So, William H. Forbes, Kearsarge naval veteran, of Roxbury, and Charles C. Trapp, of the Winthrop post, reviewed the parade with the governor.

She was taken to a clump of trees, each one wrought with the body of a child.

"This was where you buried the body," Prosecutor Clifford said.

"Yes," she whispered, breaking into sobs.

"Tell us just how you did it," the prosecutor said.

"I covered it with leaves," she said.

A large crowd followed the prisoner to the dead spot.

Prosecutor Baldwin said that the board of aldermen examined Miss Parks as to her sanity.

Miss Parks, of good standing in her community, today gave written statements alleging that Miss Parks used children in blackmail, then, according to Detective Sergeant Louis Shaw, these men were leaving their children and Another black and white, a St. Louis man, also communicated with the police.

In his confession, Miss Parks revealed that she had a son, who was 22 and the daughter of an Illinois man, who was 18.

Miss Parks said that the child was 18 months old when she was born.

that Burgess appealed to Marvin to dismiss Koch, or otherwise discipline him to constrain him and was "willing to go out and try to frame" Koch.

He added that Burgess was "willing to accept money as a 'lobbyist' and was willing to go out and try to frame" Koch.

In making his second report to the Senate since investigation of obnoxious was begun, the committee reviewed at length the testimony of Burgess, who was characterized as "extreme and dangerous" in his answers.

The committee made no recommendations.

This plan was followed in its first report on the employment by Senator Joseph P. Kamp, Republican, of Charles L. Evans, of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association to aid him in his duties.

Burgess, who is employed by the United States Protective Association, testified before the committee he had been employed by Evans.

Continuing on this testimony, the report said: "There is no doubt

Rail President Asked About 'Flask Feast'

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—A railroad president, a hotel manager and a writer appeared before the Grand Jury today to testify regarding the famous "Wall Street booze party," and all refused to comment afterwards on their testimonies on the appearance of Loomis and the hotel manager, Frank Hight of the Willard. In a speech in the Senate he described the dinner given at the Willard for members of Congress by Walter P. Reuther, New York broker, and asserted he saw Loomis pour some "alcoholic stuff" from a flask and drink it. Brookhart also said that flasks were given as presents by P. Reuther.

The Senator went before the Grand Jury following his speech. District Attorney Rover then invited Loomis and Hight to appear and Walter Liggett, a magazine writer, was asked to testify after the publication of an article under his signature on liquor conditions in Washington.

Liggett said he was not asked for the appearance of the trip that he mentioned in his article as attending affairs where liquor was served. He asserted he was convinced that his description of conditions was "conservative."

District Attorney Rover said after the appearance of the trip that as far as he knew the Grand Jury would not request the appearance of additional witnesses to testify concerning the dinner and liquor conditions.

The mission here applied to the Nationalist government foreign mission for aid in rescuing the pastor and received promises that troops would be sent to Weyuekwan at once.

HIDE ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF MUSSOLINI

London, Nov. 11 (INR)—A well-kept secret of an alleged attempt to assassinate Premier Mussolini of Italy on October 10 has just been revealed, according to the Times correspondent of the Daily Chronicle.

The Chronicle states that reports of the attempted assassination, from three different sources, Rome, Turin and Milan, are most conflicting.

According to the Rome report, Mussolini and his staff in three automobiles went to visit some ancient excavations when three rifles were fired at the second car from ambush.

The assassin, realizing that the attempt had failed, ceased firing. The surrounding district was searched and more than 200 persons were arrested.

The Turin report, confirming the Rome report, states that one member of the police escort of the Mussolini party was severely wounded.

According to the Milan report the attack was made while Mussolini was visiting Ostia. Two revolvers were fired, missing Mussolini, but wounding one of his officers.

701,625 lbs. of Mail Carried by Air

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Postmaster-General Brown announced today there were 701,625 pounds of mail transported by air during October, compared with 683,000 pounds in September.

The Chicago-San Francisco route was the largest carrier, transporting 17,984 pounds. The New York-Chicago route was second with 10,753 pounds, and the Salt Lake City-Los Angeles route was third with 7,460 pounds.

In making this announcement today university officials said that the ceremony dedicating the "Salle La Fayette" has been planned to emphasize the friendship of the Marquis de La Fayette and Thomas Jefferson, founder of the University of Virginia, and as a symbol of the friendship between the United States and France.

The opening of the bank today was without incident. There were no withdrawals during the first hour. Several wealthy friends of Riordan were reported as ready to make large deposits in the bank should any substantial withdrawals be made during the day.

Officially stated that any steps were taken after Riordan's death to improve the bank's condition.

The banker's suicide was regarded by civil and ecclesiastical authorities today as due to insanity.

The news of Riordan's death was suppressed by Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, until after the funeral for the suicide in Dr. Norris's official report. He said his theory was based on statements by two physicians who had attended Mr. Riordan shortly before his death that he had been suffering from severe depression and appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown.

Bishop John J. Dunn, in the absence of Cardinal Hayes in Rome, issued a dispensation to permit burial of the banker in the consecrated ground of Calvary cemetery.

It was issued on the application of the Rev. Patrick Drach, rector of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic church of which the banker was a member, and of the Rev. John J. Connelley, pastor of the church in which the banker was buried.

The church except in case of insanity.

Riordan Bank Closes, RUMORS SWIFTED

New York, Nov. 11—The County Trust Company, whose president was James J. Riordan, friend and business associate of Al Smith, committed suicide last Friday, opened at the regular hour today to transact business as usual.

The state superintendent of banks and a staff of examiners completed their check of the company's books yesterday and reported the bank in "splendid condition and worthy of every public confidence."

DEATH DUE INSANITY

Officially stated that any steps were taken after Riordan's death to improve the bank's condition.

The banker's suicide was regarded by civil and ecclesiastical authorities today as due to insanity.

Auto Checkup Shows Drivers All Have Their Papers

The value of the recent drive against careless drivers in this state had borne fruit according to the Bureau of police officials, who say that every one of the 1300 motorists who were stopped yesterday on North Shore drive by state highway department inspectors had his license and registration with him.

A few instances of motorists were taken for cutting out of line.

PRISON FOR TWO IN DOPE PLOT

Nanking, China, Nov. 11 (AP)—Hing Kuo, former vice-consul in San Francisco, and his wife, Mrs. Susan Ying Kuo, today were sentenced to prison terms and fined on charges of attempting to smuggle opium valued at half a million dollars into San Francisco last summer.

Kuo was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and his wife to four years in prison and fined $2500.

They do not pay their fines they will be allowed to serve time in prison at the rate of $150 a day.

From, consular attaché at San Francisco at the time of the opium seizure, was acquitted and discharged.

21,000 KILLED IN 8 MONTHS

Hartford, Ct., Nov. 11 (AP)—Approximately 200 persons were killed in automobile accidents in the United States during September, the Travelers' Insurance Company reported today.

This is the highest total for a single month ever recorded.

The figures show that for the first nine months of the year at least 21,000 persons died as the result of automotive mishaps. Fewer persons were killed in February than in any other month during the first three quarters of 1929, and since that time there has been a steady increase in the number.

The largest number of deaths in any state in September occurred in Michigan, which also led the country in the previous months, 152 losing their lives.

National Ice Men to Meet in Boston

The annual four-day convention of the National Association of Ice Dealers will be held at the Hotel Statler beginning tomorrow. F. J. Nichols of Dayton, O., will address the first business meeting on "Marketing and Merchandising."

2 FEDERAL DRY BOATS SUNK BY BOMBERS

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two motorboats operated by federal prohibition enforcement agents in raiding expeditions against bootleggers and rum-runners were bombed and sunk in Wolf River harbor here early today and large privately owned boats, moored nearby, were damaged by the explosion of two charges of dynamite tossed from a passing motorboat which escaped under cover of fog.

Government agents regard the bombing as a gesture in "revelation of warfare against prohibition law enforcement."

Pinis E. Wilson, prohibition administrator for the Memphis district, immediately began preparations for intensified enforcement activities and said that "now that they have started a war they'll get plenty of it."

No one was aboard the boats sunk. One of the other boats, a houseboat, was occupied by Frank Busby and his wife, but other passengers suffering from shock neither hurt.

LEADER SLAIN IN ARGENTINA

Mendoza, Argentina, Nov. 11 (AP)—Dr. Carlos Washington Leucina, political "boss" of this city, and bitter foe of President Irigoyen, was assassinated today at a political meeting.

Twenty-one persons were sent to hospitals wounded in the flurry of firing which accompanied the shooting, and it was believed many more were among the unreported casualties. Among the grievously wounded was Leucina's son, Raul Leucina, and the chief of police.

Following the assassination a military guard was thrown about the city in fear of new attacks. More than 250 persons were arrested, but all but 15 released.

Senate Hushed as It Rises in Honor of Armistice Day

Washington, Nov. 11 (INR)—In honor of the armistice ending the great war, the Senate today at the hour of its adjournment stood in silence for one minute.

The tribute to the American dead of the great war was proposed by Senator Van Dusen of Michigan, who said:

"This is the 11th hour of the 11th month which is historic and a moment which is sacred to the remembrance. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate suspend and that senators stand for a moment in silence in recognition of this particular moment."

SEIZED PRIEST FACES DEATH

Hankow, Nov. 11 (AP)—A threat that "within four days" Dr. Ulrich will be executed and killed has been received here by friends of the priest, a Franciscan missionary who is being held captive at Weyuekwan, 15 miles north of Wuchang.

Ransom of $10,000 Mexican was demanded in a letter which was brought from the bandit camp by the Chinese servant of the missionary.

The mission here applied to the Nationalist government foreign mission for aid in rescuing the pastor and received promises that troops would be sent to Weyuekwan at once.

Fr. Ulrich was captured Friday morning when the bandits, alleged by Communists, attacked and routed the small garrison and looted Weyuekwan. The priest's home is Calumet, Mich.

New Efforts Made to Free Captive Merchant

London, Nov. 11 (INR)—Efforts were continued today to effect the release of Aaron Brenner, New York fur merchant held for ransom near Tientsin, China.

A dispatch to the Manchester Guardian today said Brenner's kidnappers have been identified as a gang of well-dressed White Russians who have been operating around Harbin for several weeks.

No indication has been received as to the reception accorded the offer of $50,000 made by Joseph Brenner, the kidnaper's name brother, for his release. The kidnappers originally demanded $200,000 ransom.

Al Smith Gives Copies of Book to Blind

New York, Nov. 11—The American Foundation for the Blind, which former President Coolidge is honorary president, announced that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will defray the cost of printing 10,000 copies of his autobiography "Up to Now," for circulation in libraries having departments for the blind. Smith has asked that the book be inscribed to the blind people of America through the generosity of the author in memory of his mother, Catherine Mulvihill Smith.

SIX KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Oakdale, Tenn., Nov. 11 (AP)—Six persons were killed and at least 40 others injured in the derailment south of here early today of the Ponce de Leon passenger train north-bound to Cincinnati.

The known dead are: W. A. Eisman of Chattanooga, engineer of the train.

Ed Grant, Hixling Park, Ga., fireman.

Mail Clerk Winstead.

The wreck took place on a curve at Glen Mary, 25 miles north of here. The exact cause was not known.

Nine coaches left the track and the heaviest casualties among the passengers injured were in the first three cars which were filled with excursionists who had spent Sunday in Chattanooga and on Look-out mountain.

The injured were taken to Somerset, Ky., Rockwood, Tenn., and to Chattanooga. A special train was operated from Chattanooga to the wreck.

John Russell, 17, of Mill Springs, N. C., was among the passengers injured. He suffered a skull and other injuries which left him partially paralyzed.

SWEDEN MAY ADOPT ITS LIQUOR LAW

UNPOPULAR WITH ALL CLASSES

Figures Show It Has Reduced Drunkenness, but Also Has Weak Spots

Herewith is the second installment of the report of the Scandinavian liquor control commission which lately visited Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland to make a study of conditions for William Randolph Hearst and his newspaper. The concluding article will be published tomorrow. —Editor's note.

By M. LOUISE GROSS and ARCHDEACON JOSEPH H. DODDSON.

The effect of Swedish legislative measures against alcoholism is a subject which may be judged by the following official figures for the years 1912 to 1928.

The number of inhabitants in Sweden in 1912, the last year before the Bratt system went into effect, was 5,628,583 and the population of 1928, the last full year under the Bratt system, was 6,100,000.

In Stockholm in 1912 the population numbered 500,000, but reached 644,000 in 1928.

In Sweden in 1912 about 44,500,000 litres of alcohol were consumed, approximately 7.9 litres per inhabitant.

In 1928 the consumption of alcohol was 2,841,048 litres were consumed, 2.4 litres per inhabitant, in 1912 in 1928 the amount dropped to 3,622,683 litres, or 2.35 litres per person.

Arrests for drunkenness in 1912 numbered 58,909 throughout Sweden, a ratio of 10.5 per 1000 inhabitants. In 1928 27,450 arrests for drunkenness were officially recorded, a drop to 4.50 per 1000 persons.

In Stockholm the ratio of 9.12 per 1000 had fallen to 11.76.

FEWER WOMEN CONVICTED. In 1912 throughout Sweden 1786 women were convicted of drunkenness, 6.20 per 1000 females.

In 1928 there were 643 women convicted of this offense, or 2.08 per 1000 females.

Of each 100,000 inhabitants of Sweden, 2.58 per cent were treated for insanity due to acute alcoholism in 1912. In 1927 about half this number were treated for insanity due to intoxication, or 1.40 per hundred thousand.

The decrease in the number of youths between the ages of 15 and 20 arrested for drunkenness in Stockholm since 1912 is noteworthy.

Swedish System for U. S.

TEN years ago the Bratt system was legalized in Sweden for the regulation of the traffic in hard liquor, there being no restrictions on light wines or beer.

Whether or not the Bratt system is a success, Sweden can show in its support a group of statistics which purport to show a decrease in crime and in alcoholism, with the result that many amateur and professional research workers, after a brief survey, are disposed to assert that the Bratt system will work in the United States because it works in Sweden.

In that year 281 young people were arrested on this count or 12.4 per 1000 inhabitants under 20 years. In 1928 only 46 were charged with drunkenness, or 2.2.

The hospital of Katarina in Stockholm has been receiving for treatment for the last 20 years the habitual drunkards who are in urgent need of treatment or instatement. In 1913 this hospital received 623 cases of chronic alcoholism, 17.1 per 10,000 inhabitants. In 1928 there was a decrease to 160 or 3.4 per 10,000 inhabitants.

This decrease in chronic alcoholism may likewise be noted from the figures gathered by the dispensary physicians of Stockholm. Who in 1912 treated only 81 cases, 16.0 per 10,000 inhabitants, and in 1928 only 42 cases, or 1.4 per each 10,000 inhabitants.

CHRONIC ALCOHOLISM. Deaths caused by chronic alcoholism in Sweden numbered 110 in 1913, a ratio of .96 per 100,000 inhabitants. In 1924 only 18 deaths from this cause were reported, only 0.20 per cent for 100,000.

Crimes of violence officially reported throughout Sweden in 1913 reached 8108, 8.61 per 10,000 inhabitants. In 1928 this number had fallen to 1864, 3.27 per 10,000.

In Stockholm in 1912 there were 599 crimes of violence officially reported, 7.07 per 10,000 inhabitants. In 1928 the number had fallen to 203, 3.27 per 10,000.

It is a supplementary information is obtained from local authorities as to whether the applicant has ever been reported drunk or involved in any crime, or if otherwise disqualified. All this information goes on the card index file.

If the application is accepted by the system company the passbook is issued to the person and his name and information is entered on a card index in duplicate, so that a cross index is kept of every person who drinks in Sweden.

MUCH CLERICAL WORK. This naturally involves a tremendous amount of clerical work each month a new passbook is issued to the individual, regardless of whether he has used up his previous monthly book or not. No citizen may use his left-over book.

If he does not feel like drinking during that month, it makes no difference he must stand in line each month and obtain a new permit just the same.

This is often a great inconvenience to Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer of Sweden, and it is no doubt one of the reasons why a great many people in that country are not pleased with the Bratt system, although they will admit it is better than prohibition.

The rules governing the sale for consumption of restaurants are less definitely fixed by law. The system companies, who are entirely in charge of these restaurant sales, draw up the regulations themselves. The superintending state authority, the state control board, has, however, endeavored to establish uniform principles in this respect by issuing advisory directions for the system companies.

SERVED WITH MEALS. The chief condition with regard to the serving of spirits and strong wines is that they must only be sold in connection with meals, and that the maximum quantity is 18 centilitres (slightly less than one ounce) for a male and 12 centilitres for the female consumer. Light wines and champagne may however be served without restrictions.

The Swedish system companies run all their own people's restaurants, while on the other hand private owners are, as a rule, licensed to keep restaurants of a higher class. These private restaurant keepers are, however, not entitled to enjoy the profit of the whole quantity of spirits sold by them.

It is stated for each restaurant and all that the sale will yield above this quantity must be handed over to the system company. This is also applied to the sale of strong wines.

It might be added here that all information regarding the issuing of passbooks and supervision of private restaurants is checked up with private accented temperance societies and other self-appointed keepers of an individual file who furnish the system companies with additional information regarding individuals and private concerns.

GIVE NO REAL INFORMATION. While the Bratt system has reduced the arrests for drunkenness and crime in the last few years the statistics concerning cases of drunkenness do not supply any real information, partly because the control of drunkenness is on the whole effected only in the towns, and partly owing to the fact that the police interferes only in cases of drunkenness in the streets, and in other public places. The decrease in the number of cases in the last year (3.2 per 1000 inhabitants in 1921, and 4.7 in 1929) is regarded by the board of control as due to a more effective prosecution of smuggling offenses.

The consumption of spirits has gradually increased with the present control system. This consumption was 1.91915, 2.3 litres (a litre is approximately a quart) per inhabitant, and in 1922, 2.8 litres, while the corresponding figures in 1927 were 4.5 litres per person.

The increase in the consumption is probably owing to the actual system, as the method of having passbooks decidedly implies a temptation to buy the whole quantity permitted.

TEMPTED TO DRINK. People who before the issuance of passbooks were abstemious or very light drinkers of hard liquor are now tempted to consume more, or certainly as much as the passbook permits. Though the consumption has become more evenly distributed per individual, it has spread in circles which in the earlier times were comparatively unaffected.

Recent experience has shown that the system companies, controlling the quantity of spirits sold and the manner of serving spirits in public restaurants are being discussed in the press as if they were of the greatest importance for the community. In this way it is being suggested to the public that alcoholic liquors are deleterious.

The psychological effect is the popularizing of alcohol instead of curbing its use, and in this way a counter-influence enters into the furthering of temperance among the people.

Practice has further proved that the misuse of alcohol has been able to procure spirits easily in a social way. In the view of many people, the system appears as socially unfair, since it makes it easy for the rich to obtain their full legal ration as well as so-called extra rations, while the workmen and middle class people must with almost insuperable obstacles to obtain even their legitimate supply.

It is generally acknowledged that the system companies have improved conditions in the popular restaurants for the workmen and women.

HOTELS HANDICAPPED. On account of the vague wording of the prohibition laws and as with regard to the right of profit on spirits, the public houses and restaurants in Sweden have had to contend with considerable financial difficulties of late years, which may endanger the practice and reputation of the hotels which now attract foreign visitors, as the expenses involved in order to keep up to the rules reduce the profits.

Because of this dissatisfaction among the Swedish people with the Bratt system, the Government has appointed a new commission to study a plan of modification and the commission are in present their plan at the next session of parliament.

The Bratt system is a flexible system and will be in force for many years, but it can be modified. It is not like our 18th amendment.

As present the Bratt system does not suit the ways of Sweden, because it is not severe enough, and it does not suit many of the auto-prohibitionists because it is too severe, and the rank and file are not too keen about it because it involves so much trouble and red tape for them in procuring their monthly passbooks.

Fundamentally, it is probably an excellent system for a country like Sweden, where there is not too great a population and the people are all of one race.

(The concluding article of this series, dealing with the other Scandinavian countries, will be published tomorrow.)

Last Week in Martha Lee's Kitchen

No need of a road map to find the Martha Lee Kitchen on lesson days last week. It was only necessary to follow the trail of delicious odors that floated out of this culinary corner, and let your nose lead you straight to the school portal.

Speed cooking was demonstrated in the form of a complete Sunday dinner, from Crab Cocktail to Purloo Flamingo right down in all and prepared from start to finish in exactly 35 minutes. Here's the menu:

Crab Cocktail
Lamb Chops Britannia
French Fried Potatoes
Mashed Turnips
Purloo Flamingo
Hearts of Lettuce with Russian Dressing
Pumpkin Charlotte
Purloo Flamingo

Just the sort of dinner that will solve your problem on a Sunday when there's all too little time between your return from the dinner hour and the time when your hungry husband pines for the kitchen floor demanding to know "How soon will dinner be ready?"

The materials for the above dishes were assembled before the actual cooking commenced. Then, just as hour before dinner, the oven was lighted and set at 350 deg. for the baking of the molded turp.

which required 30 minutes. Maybe your family has an anti-turp complex, contending that turp is a good cow fodder but never intended for humans. Try this molded turp on them once and all guarantee they'll ask for more.

Combined with milk, beaten 2 eggs and a little melted butter, the turp is baked in a hot mold and turned out, sprinkled with white sauce, sprinkled with grated cheese. In the same oven were placed the Purloo Flamingo, and if you'd like what we believe as the world's best recipe for "Purloo," do stop me a line. Just address your letter to Martha Lee, care of Boston American, 5 Winthrop square, (Opposite the Boston Post Office). Your lamb chops were next broiled for 2 minutes on one side, then arranged on a baking plate and cooked. When cool, they were surrounded with a Bechamel Sauce, prepared the day before, sprinkled with bread crumbs, mixed with a little Parmesan cheese, beated with melted butter and browned in the oven for 15 minutes. A garnish of a crisp brown slice is an added attraction.

While the baking was being finished, the Russian dressing was prepared for the Hearts of Lettuce, and the Martha Lee Combination of Chili sauce, chopped green pepper, and celery, with 1/2 cup onion and 1/2 cup celery, beaten cream is hard to beat.

The dessert was also assembled at this point, and consisted of finger strips of stale sponge cake, arranged in sherbet glasses and covered with whipped cream, sweetened slightly and mixed with a cup of finely diced pineapple cubes.

The Crab Cocktail was made with a touch of a moment to assemble, the Purloo Flamingo was next mixed with seasoning. French dressing, finely chopped hard-boiled egg, and a little shredded lettuce. The ingredients of any of all those recipes on request. The grill was especially attractive, and this secret too is yours for the asking.

With the dinner about ready to come from the oven, the French Fried Potatoes and Purloo Flamingo were quickly prepared and served on hot brown paper.

We have a few copies of this complete lesson sheet, and will be happy to send you one on request. Write to the Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass.

WARTIME FINGERLESS CAKE
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups water or coffee
1 cup fat
1 cup seedless raisins
2 cups flour
1 pk. (1 1/2) sliced candied orange peel
4 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. mace or nutmeg
1 tsp. salt
1 pk. (1 1/2) sliced citron

Place brown sugar, water (or coffee), fat and raisins in a saucepan. Stir over the flame until sugar is dissolved. Boil gently for 5 minutes. Cool. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add sliced citron and orange peel, mixing fruit through the flour with the finger tips. Pour the batter into a paper lined loaf pan. Bake in a very moderate oven for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. This recipe makes one large cake 12" x 4" and is quite inexpensive. It does not have the extensive keeping qualities of the other cakes, but may be kept for several weeks.

Next time you open a can of pineapples and only use one or two instead of putting the remainder in the bottom to spoil, a short time, place them in a glass and cover them with a little corn oil. They will keep indefinitely when protected like this and you can use the oil again for salads and dressings.

FASHIONABLY PLUMP

ARE THE TENDER KERNELS of sweet corn contained in the first shipment of this season's canning of a certain brand? Guiding Boston, carefully bred from soil, and husk. Solidly packed. Our most delicious vegetable at its very best. 20c a tin.

LEND A TOUCH of attractive color to breakfast grapefruit, fruit salads, puddings, ices and desserts with tin, green cherries. Plump, firm, whole-pitted cherries in a mint syrup bring the bright touch of green, and the refreshing flavor of mint. 30c a tin.

TEA FOR TWO is more delicious when sweetened with cordial flavored sugar. 50c a box. Dainty for bridge.

YUM! YUM! Smell the chicken roasting! (But stop to think that flavor-laden air means flavor lost from the bird itself.) Whole roast chickens are now put up for you, sealed in tin. Flavor cooked in, not out. Preserves all the natural juices and flavor lost in ordinary cooking. Serve right from the tin as boiled chicken, or fry from 1 to 5 minutes. Or have delicious broiled or roasted chicken in 15 minutes in a hot oven. The jelly, too, makes marvelous soups and gravies. Good chicken made even better by flavor sealing. With time and labor saved.

HAND HEALTH is important. Hands are living, growing tissue with secret life glands constantly trying to keep them young and smooth. A speckle face powder keeps even the busiest hands exquisitely groomed. Removes dirt, cream, grease, vegetable and moisture stains. Opens clogged pores. Let your hands breathe. And massage as it cleans.

LIKE ITALIAN COOKERY? Then you'll be enthusiastic about Real Italian ravioli, now sealed in its own delicious tomato sauce. Made of choice spinach, cheese, seasoning, etc. in tender pastry pillows, surrounded with luscious, spicy sauce. A complete luncheon dish in no time. And unsmacking good!

IN OLIVE OIL it pays to be particular. We discovered a splendid brand at the recent food fair. Perhaps you found it, too! We are using it in mayonnaise, Poquefort and French dressing, on vegetables, in cornbread, and for pan frying.

A SMALL QUANTITY of a certain concentrated essence of fresh garden vegetables, herbs and spices will give a piquant touch to your gravies, chops, steaks, stuffed peppers, and sauces. Appealing, economical. The chef's favorite.

Fried Potato in a New Dress

How well do I remember when the beloved Fried Potato was banished from our home table? writes one of our gentlest and the last thing to the batter, men correspondents. Oh, yes, we do have them!

The Lady Who is Boss-at-Home had been reading that fried foods were injurious to health and digestion and banished them one and all. That was ages ago. Since then marvelous things have been accomplished in the kitchen of the land. Now we know that we can eat fried foods in perfect comfort and security if a vegetable cooking oil, such as corn oil, is used for frying, and suffer no internal pains in our little tumblers as a result.

Corn fritters, doughnuts, chicken croquettes, French fried potatoes, fried clams, scallops and oysters, fried chicken, and other good things that really must be cooked in deep fat to attain the peak of their deliciousness. "The kind of corn oil we use in our homes—and my wife tells me that you use it also in the Martha Lee Kitchen—is made from the finest corn and is just as good as any corn oil that can be made. To which we of the Martha Lee Kitchen say—Amen!"

Vivian Sears and Margaret and Alfred Smith in Joint Debut Tonight

Society Plans Many Events for Week-End of Harvard and Yale Game

TOGETHER MISS VIVIAN SEARS and Miss Margaret Kendall Smith are to give their formal bow to society this evening at the Country Club, their respective parents, Mr. William T. Sears and Dr. and Mrs. George Gilbert Smith, being the hosts. The young girls are to be similarly clad in long frocks of pale pink chiffon with which they are to carry old-fashioned bouquets of shaded roses. For the occasion Mrs. Sears has chosen to wear a sapphire blue velvet, while Mrs. Smith is to wear a taffeta, American beauty in shade. The tuberoses in the charge of Thomas Robinson and James Dean, Jr., who as head waiters are to direct the following named young men, Paul Bird, Jr., William Bhearer, Frank Bremer, Richard Olney, Jr., Herman Williams, Frank White, Nelson Farquharson, Robert Hamlin, John E. Humes 2d, Stanley Pierce, Samuel Atkinson, Lawrence Kilham, John Grant, Frank Blackford, Philip Bourne, Thomas Bial, John Jones and Donald Wilson.

MISS ALICE SNOW, DAUGHTER of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Sydney Bruce Snow of Chicago, is being married today to John Burr Frost of Montreal, in her summer home in Windsor, N. H. It is to be a quiet affair with only members of the two families present. Dr. Snow, who is president of Massachusetts theological school, a part of Chicago University, is well remembered here in Boston as rector of King's Chapel.

EVERY OTHER YEAR ONLY is Boston privileged to have the Harvard-Yale game in its stadium. Therefore, when it is our lucky year, many are the festivities being planned for the week-end of November 22-23, the evening of the 22, which is the one preceding the greatly anticipated encounter, the Harvard-Yale assembly is to take place at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill. Tickets for this subscription dance may be obtained from John G. Hutchinson of Braintree at 5, Cambridge.

Young Harvard graduates of prominent families are to give a party at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, tickets for this subscription dance may be obtained from John G. Hutchinson of Braintree at 5, Cambridge.

JOHN ORTIZ, NOTED COMPOSER and pianist, is arranging the musical numbers for the Oriental play, "Reaping the Whirlwind," which will be the first Boston showing at the Y. W. C. A. STATECRAFT SESSIONS IN HUB

"TALKING to the Ladies" is the subject of the principal address made at the luncheon of the statecraft institute given under the auspices of the women's Republican Club of Massachusetts tomorrow.

The general machinery of the state is to come under consideration.

The institute is in session for two days and will be addressed by several men and women of prominence in politics throughout the state. MacGregor Jenkins, writer of note, is to talk at the luncheon to which dignitaries of state and city have been invited. This is the second statecraft institute program, sponsored by the state Republican women and will be opened by Governor Allen.

Tuesday's session begins at 10 a. m. with the address of the day, "The State of the Republic," by Dr. George E. Bacon, president of the Senate, and Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the House, will contribute valuable information.

Capt. George Parker, registrar of motor vehicles, will talk on "Highway Safety," again attracting the profound attention of the audience. In this state and outlining a course of action to which the women may devote their efforts in alleviating possibly the fatalities on the highway. The address follows the luncheon and is given in afternoon session.

George E. Nutter is also scheduled to speak and will tell of the judicial system of Massachusetts.

SECOND DAY PROGRAM

The morning session of the statecraft institute opens with its program at the Women's Republican Club, Beacon st., at 10 a. m. The question of education will be discussed, discussed by Dr. George E. Bacon, president of the Senate, and Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the House, will contribute valuable information.

Wednesday afternoon "Rural Public Health Needs in the State" will be discussed by Dr. W. S. Draper, assistant surgeon-general of the state, and Dr. George E. Bacon, president of the Senate, and Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the House, will contribute valuable information.

YOUTHFUL WEARERS DEMAND HATS THAT BY SHARP CONTRAST BRING OUT ROUNDED SOFTNESS OF FACE

PARIS, FRANCE, Nov. 11.—A hat seems to be flat unless it is sharp. We refer, however, to the hats designed for youthful wearers, who demand that their headgear by sharp contrast bring out the rounded softness of the face.

For the first time in many seasons, every woman cannot wear every hat, which was possible when the demand was for hats that seemed to be just military coverings, rather than flattering frames. But this season sponsors the revival of millinery as an art, and we are all considerably the gainers thereby.

STOCK MARKET RECEIPTS

By FRANK H. MELOAN

The majority of the day will recall the first American day it was to put in midday a great occasion. Unhappily for its chance of observance as a general public holiday, it fell between Columbus Day and Thanksgiving Day. Nevertheless many states have made it a legal holiday, although the majority to date have refrained from taking such action. Surprisingly large number of people did not expect the stock exchange to be open today. So short is our memory that many of us had forgotten the terrible "business as usual" of the stock exchanges in previous American Days. The world is busy and we really have too many things to remember.

It was a Harvard professor who declared the best solution of our knowledge of how to find out a thing if one wishes to know it. This applies to general knowledge regarding the stock market mechanism and conditions.

In past years the big stock exchanges have "observed" American Day by a two-minute shutdown. This hardly long enough to allow us to recall even the names of the exchanges in which our interest is to "make the world safe for democracy."

Investors are no longer buying stocks because they are afraid they are going up, but are making purchases of securities which they believe will yield the factors that determine the price of stocks.

This week's United Business Report contains and analyzes the four major industries that have been unusually good earners during the coming year. Equity they are as follows:

Electricity. Equipment—Current orders substantial—Big electric plants going ahead without interruption—Replacement demand for 1922 about 20 percent over last year.

Food Products. Demand and volume of business relatively in excess of business in general. Recent consolidations have improved earnings outlook.

Railroad Equipment. Activity and new orders at record high level—Demand for standard equipment and for special signal and electric equipment increasing—Term increasing trend. Leading unit industry showing splendid earnings.

Motion Pictures. A "depression proof" industry. Larger attendance than before. Box office prices higher than most, offsetting higher production costs of "talkies."

One effect of the stock market crash has been to make financing for industry more difficult. This may mean, of course, that new financing will be offered on terms more advantageous to the public than in the past.

Note that American bankers are studying plans for municipal financing overseas at the same time. The foreign market for cities and towns is meeting increasing competition with the United States.

John C. Lodge has resigned as president of the United States Manufacturing Co. of New Bedford, and has been elected by the stockholders of Stafford Mills and more recently connected with Taber Mills. He has been elected by the stockholders of Stafford Mills and more recently connected with Taber Mills.

The explanation of a declining market now offered in Wall Street is that bankers have the situation well in hand and sell support stock in quantities sufficient to check any speculative advance in the market. However, has yet decided just what is "normal."

An interesting insight into textile business is furnished by the fact that Alexander, Inc., weavers, etc., Dan-Elson, Cal. who report:

"We are running 100 per cent, our business on hand to about the same and we do not see any change coming in the labor wage situation. Our customers are buying on the same basis as during the last two or three years, that is, on a cash basis."

For the first six months of this year there was an increase of 21 per cent over last year's business. July and August were about the same as last year, as a result of combining out of season orders from October, we believe, will show a 30 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

Make Lobbying Criminal

Then Enforce the Law Rigidly

THANKS to the thoroughness with which the Caraway Committee is probing the lobby evil, all its poisonous roots are being dragged into the light.

It now appears from the testimony of Lobbyist Arnold, of the Southern Tariff Association and the American Taxpayers' League, that the President, as well as the Congress, was a target for the lobbying activities of these organizations.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, put Mr. Arnold through a course of questions that brought from him the admission that "stiffening the backbone of the President" so that he would accept the high rates of the tariff bill passed by the House was part of this lobby's program.

With a view to bringing the President into line with the program of the Arnold lobbies, "interested parties" in widely scattered parts of the country were given to understand that a "campaign of education" in support of the House schedule for sugar and other commodities might have the desired effect upon the President.

All the while Southern Democratic Senators opposed to the House bill were being subjected to an attack from their own States, which was being bought and paid for by the lobbies operated by Mr. Arnold and his associates.

And the objective of this direct and indirect lobbying was to mislead both the President and the Congress, if not intimidate them, into supporting a tariff bill acceptable to the special interests supporting the Arnold lobbies.

Not content with attempting to pollute legislation at the source, these lobbyists appear to have been trying to intimidate both the President and the Congress with a stuffed club in the form of manufactured "public opinion" bought and paid for by lobbyists.

The revelations before the Caraway Committee are becoming more astounding with each day's testimony. They go to show that the lobby evil is not only a disgrace to the American people, but a grave danger to the integrity of their government.

And no half-way measures will suffice to eradicate this plague.

It must be dealt a body blow.

LOBBYING MUST BE MADE A PENAL OFFENSE AND THE LAW AGAINST LOBBYING RIGIDLY ENFORCED BEFORE THE LOBBY EVIL CAN BE ERADICATED.

They Work

But It's Different Work

(Copyright, 1929)

MEN deceive themselves easily. King Alfonso of Spain, cheerful young monarch, left his gold cigarette box at the mouth of a coal mine in Great Britain, put on overalls, went down and said to the men, sweating at the bottom of a deep mine: "I was born a monarch not because I chose to be, but because it had to be. It is as necessary for me to work as it is for any other man. Your Prince of Wales and I are workers."

All true. The king could not help being born a king and the prince could not help being a prince.

But there is a good deal of difference between the work that the King and the Prince do and the work done by men that go down into a mine, not once in a while, but every day when they can get work.

Many money kings and princes in America talk the "I also work hard" nonsense. They do work, but they get all they produce, and that makes a difference.

The BAER Facts

NEW YORK'S mayoral campaign was famous for candidates criticizing each other's clothes.

Everybody admits that Jimmy Walker is the best dressed municipal monarch east of the Great Divide.

When it comes to clothes, His Honor the Jimmy is an authority inside the subject.

He is an inspiration to other city over-seers. We would like to look as neat as Mayor Walker.

We cannot understand how he looks good when he has only one suit.

We purchase our clothes out of the finest catalogue obtainable in waiting rooms in railroad stations.

But when we stand up against his honor he makes us look like a prize trying to escape from a bag.

Politics are getting tough when you have to criticize a man's clothes. The old days of congress garters and seersucker dusters are gone.

The public man of today is a representative citizen. He wears a flower in his automobile and avoids well-worn vests.

Activities of the welcoming committee have popularized the high hat and spats. No longer do we listen to the Websterian orations shaking dandruff over their supporters in the waiting rooms where their dradles with tobacco juice.

In spite of what the dental aid says about the huge majority, a candidate with balloons would not get four out of five votes.

America has become a well-oiled nation and we want our public officers to look handsome and broad. Every time you see a defeated candidate he has hairy knees, curly lips and is wearing a soft hat that looks like the egg-in-the-bag trick.

Photographs of President Hoover and his cabinet indicate that our natural resources are not limited to a walk-up suit with two pairs of pants.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

THE kidneys control many of the constituents of circulating blood; if for any reason the amount of potassium, or sodium, or sulphate in the blood is abnormally high, the substance appears at once in the urine. The kidney is a blood-regulating and excretory organ.

On the average a healthy person voids about a litre and a half of urine per day containing about 30 grams of urea (converted ammonia), 15 of salt and 10 of other soluble substances. The remainder—more than 90 per cent of the total weight—is simply water.

The reasons for its excretion are two: Water excretion may, under certain circumstances, make up for lack of salt in the blood; and the kidneys can only get rid of the waste in this solution. Urea, salt or creatinine do not form gases and cannot be got rid of in the lungs; they must be excreted dissolved in water.

A kidney consists of a multitude of coiled tubes. It is built up of arteries, the veins, and the capillaries which connect them together; and secondly, the kidney tubules, end-branches of the arteries, in the walls of which the separating processes take place.

These are roughly a million of these tubules in each kidney of a full-grown man. The tubules end blindly at one end; at the other they lead into the bladder.

Each kidney-tubule is surrounded by a dense network of blood-capillaries and a fluid bathes the walls of the tubule through the walls of the tubule into its canal and so to the ureter. But the one is not a simple filtering like the lymphatics; we have here a double filter. It is a filtration as its basis, but the walls of the tubule will interfere actively and modify it in various ways. It is a double filter, interfering with the passage of certain substances and delaying or preventing others.

There's a kick in solemn censure That apparently can sting 'em When the much offended Senate Emphasized the bing in Bingham. —N. H.

The Marry-Go-Round

"I'm all fussed and bothered!"

John has promised to take me abroad this winter—and I don't know what to do about King George."

"About King George?" repeated Mrs. Divot, wondering.

"Whether to high-tail him or to ignore him or just take him up and be pleasant to him," explained Mrs. Green. "Now that this country is going in so strong for 'aristocracy' one has to be awfully careful. You can't afford to know EVERYBODY."

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" wailed Mrs. Divot. "I'm afraid my social standing is lost forever!"

"To the garbage man this morning! I even spoke pleasantly and asked him about his wife and children!"

"Did you shake HANDS with him?" demanded Mrs. Green in horror.

"No," said Mrs. Divot. "I didn't have my love on! But what is an aristocrat—no, I mean, what is an aristocrat these days, anyway?"

"Of course there is, as there always has been and always will be," said Mrs. Green. "But the aristocracy of today is not the aristocracy of blue-blood and ancestry as it used to be in the South. Now it is the aristocracy of culture as it once was in Boston—or even the aristocracy of wealth, as it has been in New York and Palm Beach."
